COLLECTION OVERVIEW

Creator: The Caldwell Fire Department & Sam Kent

Title: The Caldwell Fire Department Papers and Photographic Collection, 1902-2011

Inclusive Dates: 1902-2011

Bulk Dates: 1950s-1970s

Quantity: 20 Boxes – 10 Cubic Feet

Repository: Caldwell Public Library, 268 Bloomfield Avenue, Caldwell, New Jersey 07006

Custodial History:

In 2009, a resident in West Caldwell, Sam Kent, brought several boxes of pictures and documents from the Caldwell Fire Department to the Caldwell Public Library to be preserved. Sam feared that, if left in the Fire Department building, the materials would be lost and/or destroyed as a result of neglect. When the items had arrived at the library they were stored in boxes and files with no definite organization. The items needed to be sorted and filed in archive materials for better preservation and access. The materials in this collection have been collected over a number of years and help provide residents and students, with evidence of the dedication and respect for the community the firemen of the Caldwell Fire Department had and continues to show.

Collection Access: The collection is open for research.

Copyright: These documents are part of township records. Due in part to the information being of a town organization, all copyrights belong to the town of Caldwell.

Preferred Citation:

HISTORICAL NOTE

“The Caldwell Fire Department has its beginning on March 8, 1901, with Cornelius A. Hoage as its first chief. The first equipment consisted of a hand-drawn hose reel and one thousand feet of hose. Later, a horse-drawn hook and ladder was purchased from Montclair, and at a still later date a hook and ladder with a chemical hookup took its place.

Prior to the organization of the volunteer fire company, fires were dealt with by means of bucket brigades, in which all able-bodied citizens participated. The alarm was given by ringing the church bell. After the trolley service was installed, the fire signal was given by pounding on the steel poles with a rock or hammer. In 1912, a fire alarm bell was purchased and hung in a tower near the firehouse, with an automatic fire alarm system to operate the bell. 1918 saw the beginning of a modern firefighting unit when a motorized truck with a pump, hose, ladders and extinguishers was placed in service. The following year the alarm bell was replaced by an air horn.

Members of the department keep pace with the latest fire fighting and prevention methods by attendance at state and district courses and competitions. Regular inspections are made of the business and commercial areas, schools, churches, and public buildings and do much to keep fire losses at a low level. Today’s modern and efficient volunteer department is a credit to the borough and to those who contribute their time and efforts to this important public service.” – Jack Conklin, Former chief (taken from “Caldwell ... 1776 1976 ... Yesterday ... Today” by Sister Loretta Claire, O.P. & Norman F. Brydon)

In 2010, the Caldwell Fire Department headquarters is still located on Roseland Avenue. It houses several vehicles but utilizes three main trucks; engine 524, quint 525 (that serves the dual purpose of an engine and a ladder truck with a 75’ ladder), and (ladder) truck 526, that has a 95’ aerial ladder. It is staffed by approximately forty volunteer members, headed by fire chief, Anthony Grenci, a first and second assistance chief, a captain and three lieutenants. Members of the department are still encouraged, in some instances required, to attend state and district courses to keep up with the last methods of fire prevention. They also participate in monthly drills and duty crew drills as part of their training. The department has launched a Junior Firefighters program that gives 16 to 18-year-olds the opportunity to receive hands-on experience while assisting the firefighters.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Local historians and historical researchers will find a multitude of documents and photographs that outline the work of the Volunteer Fire Department in Caldwell. The collection contains a wide variety of materials. Within this collection has extensive information on the members of the fire department, giving the researcher the ability to access membership cards, resignation notices, death forms, and some members were matched with portraits, giving a face to the name. It is clear not every member in the department's history is listed, and some that are listed do not have as much information as the next, the information given is still valuable as it contains personal information on these men. The collection also houses numerous items documenting the activities of the department such as Department minutes spanning almost 25 years (with some years missing) and correspondence that highlights activities members had played a role in.

There are also a vast number of photographs in this collection. Many photos are of actual fires that had occurred around the town of Caldwell. A number of locations of these fires have been identified. Many fires pictured have the location and dates on which they occurred, while some are either identified by location or are known by the date the pictures were taken. Aside from pictures of actual fires, there are many pictures of the firemen themselves, however while some of these members have been identified there are many pictures where people are not. Those accessing this collection must keep in mind that this collection had no order when it arrived to be archived. The team that was processing this collection has organized the collection in a way that would be easy to access and use. This collection had been grouped in seven series, broken up by content material. The collection arrangement appears below.

The collection has been processed to the highest archival standard with prints, negatives, and paper documents re-housed in polyester clear film enclosures, perma-life acid free folders and containers. The overall condition of the collection is good. There are documents and photos in the collection that have begun to fade from aging and there is also evidence of water damage on some items. Researchers are reminded to follow all directives of the archival staff in the viewing, using and handling of the materials within this very unique holding.

Due revised state statutes, insurance companies must submit the levy collected from local communities that do not have a firemen's association directly to the New Jersey State Firemen's Association. ### BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE

Gene Collerd was born May 11, 1913 in his parents' home at 27 Park Avenue in Caldwell. He attended elementary school in Caldwell and graduated from the then Grover Cleveland High School. He was a self-employed photographer who established a studio in Caldwell in 1946. Almost sixty years later, his studio was still a fixture on Bloomfield Avenue. An unmatched force and presence within the community, Collerd was a longtime contributing photographer to The Progress Newspaper in Caldwell and very active in a host of town organizations. As well, he served the Caldwell community in a variety of capacities; as a volunteer firefighter with the Caldwell Volunteer Fire Department for more than sixty years, a member of the Caldwell Kiwanis Club since 1946, and as an honorary member of both the Rotary Club of the Caldwells and UNICO. Other community distinctions held by Collerd was that he was the oldest living Eagle Scout in Essex County, New Jersey prior to his death on September 25, 2004 and was the original Scoutmaster and organizer of Troop 6 of Caldwell.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

With the eye of a photographer and a deep sense of history, Gene Collerd captured and preserved the changing scene of his beloved Caldwell for upwards of sixty years. Whether through the lens of his camera or through the purchase of vintage photographs taken by other photographers long before him, he assembled an unsurpassed iconographic history of the Caldwells and its environs. His collection will serve future generations of residents and students.

Others, such as genealogists, local historians, and historical researchers will find a myriad of images and supportive materials to trace the growth and development of the communities covered by these materials, as well as the families who resided within. The user of this collection will access a plethora of early photographic formats (cabinet cards, carte de visits, and glass plate negatives, as well acetate negatives), documents and clippings.

A vast number of the black and white prints that comprise the collection are identified as to location and identity of the individual or group portrayed; however there are still numerous prints and negatives that are not. Where images are not identified they have be grouped by theme, subject matter or event, whenever possible.

Researchers must be mindful of the fact that this collection was disorganized when it arrived in the archives and that in no way does it reflect the arrangement or structure of its creator, Gene Collerd. The processing team has structured the collection to facilitate ease of access and use. It has established five major sub-groupings representing blocks of related subject matter and materials. Within these sub-groups, there are thirty-one distinct series narrowing the holdings to specific topics and formats. The collection arrangement appears below.

While the collection contains a broad swath of photographic images and textural materials, Series 8 is a unique and important grouping of prints and negatives of business and commercial establishments along Bloomfield Avenue in the late 1940's. Arranged by address, it is believed that the Township of Caldwell commissioned Collerd to photograph every civic, residential and commercial building extant at that time.

The collection has been processed to the highest archival standard with prints and negatives re-housed in polyester clear film enclosures, permalife acid free folders and containers. The overall condition of the collection is excellent. However, researchers are reminded to follow all directives of the archival staff in the viewing, use and handling of the materials within this very unique holding.

Many of these photographs were used to illustrate articles for the community newspaper, The Progress.

Series 6

CRANE'S MILL PHOTOGRAPHS

1950's. 4 Boxes. (2 oversized) 2 cubic feet. Arrangement varied.

This series contains photographs of the historic Crane's Mill before it was dismantled and a nursing home erected on the site. Some of these had been previously framed and are still on the matting. There are both large (11 x 14 and 8 x 10 inch) and small (3 ½ x 5 inch) black and white photos and small color photos. Views show both inside and outside of the mill. Folders are arranged according to view-exterior, interior, and dismantling.

Rachel Farrington's sketches of the mill are included here as well as a postcard of the mill. Boxes 57 and 58 contain both photos (color and black and white) and negatives. Since Crane's Mill was demolished (around 1950?) and supposedly rebuilt at Allaire State Park, Box 58 contains photos and negatives of this park. (One large picture of exterior of Crane's Mill and three pictures of Allaire State Park are in the oversized box)

Series 7

LOCAL POLITICIANS AND OFFICIALS – PORTRAIT PHOTOGRAPHS/NEGATIVES

1949-1998. 10 boxes (4 boxes of photos and 6 boxes of negatives). 5 cubic feet.

Folders are arranged alphabetically according to the name found on the envelope which contained the prints/negatives. The first four boxes contain only prints. The last 6 boxes contain only negatives. Most of the pictures are black and white.

Series 8

CALDWELL HOUSES AND BUSINESSES (ALL NEGATIVES)

1948-1964. 4 boxes. 2 cubic feet. Arrangement, mostly alphabetical.

This series contains all negatives of Caldwell scenes. There are businesses as well as houses. The dates range from late 40's to 1964. Houses are identified according to street. Streets are filed alphabetically according to the first street listed on the envelope which contained the negatives. Gene Collerd, in the late 1940's, was commissioned by Caldwell Township to conduct a photographic survey of all extant structures in Caldwell.

Series 9

PHOTOGRAPHIC NEGATIVE FILES

1930 to 1966. 8 document boxes. 4 cubic feet. Arrangement varied.

Series contains only negatives. Some are identified, but the majority remains unidentified. Dates are questionable but seem to range from negatives of old pictures to more recently taken pictures. Where identified, dates are from 1930-1966. Boxes 1-6 contain unidentified negatives and are separated into firemen, females, males, young children, groups, buildings/houses, landscapes, things, and old cameras. Boxes 7 and 8 are identified by names and dates on the envelope which contained the negatives. These negatives depict people, places, and things.

Series 10*ACETATE NEGATIVE STRIPS*1990's- 2002. 26 boxes. 13 Cubic Feet. Arrangement Varied.

Of the many negative rolls and strips that Collier had, a small amount was digitized. When digitized, there were created "contact sheets" of thumbnail images. Additionally, all scanned images were placed on to archival discs. Each strip is assigned a number that appears on the strip, on the contact sheet, and on the folder. Strips are arranged in batches according to when they were processed. Within each batch, the numbers are chronological. (The last six boxes are unprocessed film strips, both wide strips and 35 mm strips, in layers inside the boxes.)

This series of acetate strips include both identified and unidentified images. The user will find many images of Caldwell, whether a present day or vintage scenes. A few of the batches include photos of the well-known "Caldwell Street Fair", the many parades that took place in this area, such as the "Armistice Day Parade" (Batch one-box 3-Folder 43); photos of the filming of the famous HBO show "Sopranos" (Batch 4-Box 2-Folder 732 or batch 1 – box 1-folder 14), as well as shots taken of organizational banquets, parade committees, union meetings and school graduations.

The last six boxes have not been digitized and for the most part are unidentified but contain pictures of fire departments, family Christmas parties, etc.

Subgroup II. Family Photographic Albums*Series 11*CURTISS FAMILY ALBUM*1869-1954. 1 box. 0.25 cubic feet. Arrangement varied.

This series contains photos from the Curtiss Family Album, as well as the Curtiss Foto Service of Morristown, New Jersey. The family originates from Morristown, New Jersey and judging from the information gathered from the photos, images date from 1869 to 1954.

Included here are varied sized photos of Albert Erdman Curtiss on a motorcycle with some images mounted. Other pictures to be found in the series are of Curtiss' daughter Alberta, wife Rose and of various family members. Of special note are two photos of Robert Voss (a family member) also known as "Bob Ace", perhaps a noted actor of the time.

Series 12*PRYOR FAMILY ALBUM*1880's - 1890's. 1 box. 0.25 cubic feet

This series of the Pryor Family (mainly Robert and William Pryor) includes a variety of items dating from the late 19th century. Judging from the variety of materials in this series, the family seemed to be prominent within the community.

Photographs range from portraits of family members to pictures of a resort or summer home in New Paltz, New York. Other materials in the series include certificates of membership and election. These documents seem to indicate that Robert W. Pryor and family were involved with varied scholarly programs and were members of learned societies and organizations.

Series 13*AGNES PECK PHOTO ALBUM*1897. 1 box. 0.25 cubic feet

The album documents an October 1897 fire in Caldwell. However, the vast majority of the images contained in the album seem to be of Peck's friends and family at many social outings, vacation trips, travels, and get-togethers. Travels destinations identified on some of the photographs include "Sentinel Hill" in Connecticut and Pamlico in North Carolina where family members might have vacationed, stayed or owned a house.

Due to the embrittled condition of the album leaves; the album was unbound and placed in polyester enclosures with the original pagination maintained.

The negatives include individuals (of all ages), groups of people, places, and people in places. Studios and suppliers noted on some of the envelopes include W. C. Cullen, 61 William Street, NY and Hastings & Miller, 113 Nassau Street, NY.
